

Classroom Project on Surgery Jobs

by Tammy Harter 08/31/11

1. Pass out the Aspen Surgery Center's tables on job titles to all students. Tell the students that they have 5 minutes to read over the table and then put it away in their back packs or notebooks so that they can't "peek" during the CANDY QUIZ.
2. Break up the class into two sides of the room. Tell the students that the side that has the most correct answers, wins the candy of their choice from the bag provided. (Show the bag of candy).
3. Choose a student to show the score by marking tallies as they go. I suggest you reward the scorekeeper with a candy to entice the others to participate.
4. Try to involve all students by making a rule like, "No one student can answer more than twice for their side."
5. Alternate the questions from one side to the next so that each side has the same number of opportunities to win.
6. Use the table to ask quiz questions for as long as your time frame allows. I suggest 20 minutes.
