WHY LMU

Loyola Marymount University is a dynamic, student-centered university. We are medium-sized (5800 undergraduates) and we are the only Jesuit university in the Southwestern United States.

Our campus is in Westchester, a friendly, residential neighborhood removed from the hustle and bustle of Los Angeles – yet with easy access to all of the riches of our most cosmopolitan environment. One mile from the ocean, our students enjoy ocean and mountain vistas as well as the moderate climate and crisp breezes characteristic of a coastal location.

Loyola Marymount is committed to the ideals of Jesuit and Marymount education. We are a student-centered university, dedicated to the education of the whole person and to the preparation of our students for lives of service to their families, communities and professions. Breadth and rigor are the hallmarks of the curriculum.

Taken together, our academic program, our Jesuit and Marymount heritage, and our terrific campus environment enable us to offer our students unparalleled opportunity to prepare for life and leadership in the 21st century.
