Project CHES Overview

Project CHES (Collaborative for Hispanics in Higher Education & Student Success) is a grant-funded program shared by California Lutheran University and Moorpark College. It supports the development and implementation of several activities (including the Second-Year Experience (SYE) and CHES Men's Mentorship Programs), which focus on helping historically under-represented students find success and achieve their degree by engaging in the classroom, feeling academically capable, connecting to peers and the campus community, and focusing on careers.
