Participatory governance groups at Moorpark College that include students, classified professionals, administrators, and faculty have reviewed and provided input on the initial draft of our ISER. Accreditation and the ISER were major components of the Moorpark College Strategic Planning Retreat on Friday, April 22, 2022 and included gathering broad based, college-wide input from all stakeholder groups. A plan has been developed to incorporate all the input received along with the district standards and develop a complete ISER over the summer to be ready for the participatory governance tour at the very start of the Fall semester.

All participatory governance committees at Oxnard College have reviewed and commented on sections of the ISER pertinent to each committee's charge. These comments are being reviewed by a subcommittee of the Accreditation Work Group. Accreditation efforts will continue over the summer with faculty, classified professionals and administrators working to create a complete draft of the ISER and have it ready for review by all constituent groups on campus, the community, and at the district according to the timeline created by DCAP.

Ventura College's Self-Evaluation Report is currently working its way through the college's participatory governance review and approval process. The Associated Students have reviewed and approved the draft, with the understanding that evidence is still being gathered. The Classified and Academic Senates have reviewed and approved nearly all sections of the current draft. They are awaiting the final section of Standard III.D (Fiscal) and the updated draft of Standard IV.C (Governing Board). The Senate meeting calendar has finished for this academic year; as such, each Senate will review and take action on these last sections when they return in the fall semester.
