F. Credit for Prior Learning at Moorpark College

Credit for prior learning offers avenues for students to receive recognition for prior experiences. One example is credit by exam. Course equivalents to standardized exams as well as the option for departmental exams for credit have been established. Also included are options to receive credit for military service, industry credential or licensure, and a portfolio. Departments had an opportunity to provide input for what credit for prior learning looks like at Moorpark College. This comes to Senate Council for consideration after being recommended for adoption by the Curriculum Committee.
